

Bry-Air opens Dr. Mathra Das Pahwa Learning Center

Bry-Air started "Dr. Mathra Das Pahwa Learning Center" for underprivileged women in Moga (Punjab) as part of CSR activities. The center was inaugurated on April 06, 2014 and is being run by Bhartiya Jagriti Manch – a local NGO.

The objective is to support underprivileged girls/women in the creation of economical and social boost by education and learning of vocational skills. The Center is providing one year sewing course to the girls/women above 16 years of age. To begin with, 20 girls are already enrolled in the classes.

Bry-Air is providing all the facilities to run the center which not only includes the material related sewing classes but sewing teachers, administrator, maintenance and other running costs.
